

Dear FCC,

Ever wonder at the recent documentary craze? It's because people are hungry for the TRUTH--real news that they aren't getting from the mainstream media outlets. All we get from mainstream media is censored pabulum and straight out lies stenographed from the corporate, right-wing owners.

The commercials are obnoxious and offend the intelligence of the public. The music is the same ten songs played on all the commerical stations. The commentators engage in mindless banalities. The programming is homogenous and BORING.

I can't listen to commercial radio anymore. It's no more than cacophonous mind-rot. I listen only to non-commercial, listener supported radio.

The public deserves better than what you're giving them. You don't own the airways. Let the people have a voice in what they're hearing.

Sincerely,

Etta Tyler
